U.S. Will Not Talk Peace In Viet Nam Until Reds End Infiltration of Arms

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (UPI)—The United States is going to continue to meet force with force in Viet Nam until there is a basic decision by the communists to give up their aggression. That was the substance of a series of policy statements issued yesterday by the White House and other top officials of the Johnson administration. U. S. officials made it clear that formal negotiations were out of the question at this time, and that the United States would continue to support fully South Viet Nam's fight against Red subversion.

Hearing Slated on County Zoning Plan

By MIKE MCGREER

Twin Falls board of county commissioners will host a public hearing at 8 p.m. March 11, in the district courtroom at the courthouse on a proposed county zoning ordinance and zoning map. Two public hearings on the zoning program already have been held by the zoning commission. No opposition to the zoning program was voiced at either of the hearings, held in Buhl and Kimberly. A year has been spent studying zoning for the county and more than 200 persons have been indirectly involved in coming up with a zoning plan, George Ottens, zoning administrator, said Friday.

Ottens noted that on the basis of a program submitted after several studies by the agriculture committee, a zoning and planning program has been written and proposed to the county commission.

Farmers, city residents, business people and civic leaders have helped compile the information for the program submitted by the agriculture committee. Ottens said.

The committee submitted eight objectives, which include preventing scattered, haphazard suburban growth and guiding orderly transition; secure economy in governmental expenditures; and avoid restricting or hampering agriculture because of preventable urban-agricultural conflict.

Others are, prevent an unfair shifting to farmer taxpayers of public construction and service costs; prevent rural areas from becoming the dumping grounds for land uses that are not wanted elsewhere; and keep productive farming areas in agriculture until they are needed for non-farm uses.

Also included are, reserve the more fertile soils for farming; and to protect the economic base of local agricultural service, marketing firms and industries.

In order to accomplish the objectives, the committee recommended that urban uses such as nonfarm dwellings and business be encouraged to fill up vacant See ZONING, Page 2, Column 7

BURLEY, Feb. 26—Mrs. Irene E. Oliver, administrator of Magic Valley Memorial hospital, Twin Falls, today announced the appointment of James E. Rosenbaum, 38, Burley, as assistant administrator of the Twin Falls hospital.

A native Idahoan, Rosenbaum was born and raised at Gooding, where his parents still reside. He is married and has three children.

Rosenbaum served the past three years as administrator of the Cassia Memorial hospital in Burley. Prior to that time he served as administrator of the Power County hospital, American Falls, for 14 months.

He comes to the Magic Valley Memorial hospital with 14 years experience and training in technological and administrative fields of hospital operation. He is a graduate of the program of continuation education in hospital administration, Columbia University, New York City.

"He holds national registry certification in both fields of radiologic technology and medical technology. He is a member of the board of trustees of the Idaho Hospital association and a board member of Blue Cross of Idaho."

Rosenbaum is a nominee to the American College of Hospital Administrators.

He and his family are members of the Methodist church, and Rosenbaum is a member of the Masonic lodge, Burley Rotary club and Chamber of Commerce.

He also serves as medical officer in the Idaho army national guard.

White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy said that President Johnson "has not authorized any negotiations. We are not contemplating any negotiations. There are no proposals before the President for negotiations." Secretary of State Dean Rusk underscored this when he told a news conference that "negotiation aimed at the acceptance of the confirmation of aggression is not possible."

The "crucial element," he said, would be evidence that Communist North Viet Nam had decided to cease efforts to subvert and take over its neighbor to the South.

Rusk disclosed that the U. S. position was conveyed to Communist China in Warsaw Wednesday during a meeting between the American and Red Chinese ambassadors. No change in communist policy was evident during the exchange, he said.

The secretary said repeatedly that the "missing piece" in the puzzle was the absence of any indication that North Viet Nam was prepared to stop its infiltration of men and arms into South Viet Nam, and its direction of the war.

He accused North Viet Nam of "callous disregard" of the 1954 and 1962 peacekeeping accords for Southeast Asia. He said Hanoi "has directed and supplied the essential military personnel and arms for a systematic campaign of terror and guerrilla action aimed at the overthrow of South Viet Nam and at the imposition by force of a communist regime."

Second Suspect Is Arrested for Murder

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (UPI)—A 26-year-old unemployed Negro, described by police as "the enforcer for the Black Muslims," was arrested early today for the assassination of militant Black Nationalist leader Malcolm X. Police believe the suspect, Norman 3X Butler, was a member of the three-to-five-man assassination team which cut down the bearded Negro extremist with a flurry of shotgun and pistol fire as he addressed a Harlem rally of his followers last Sunday.

Malcolm X was ousted from the Black Muslim movement last year when he was its East coast leader and second most powerful spokesman. He formed his rival Black Nationalist group and became an arch-enemy of the Muslims. Shortly before he was killed, Malcolm charged the Muslims were out to take his life. His followers also blame the Muslims for the murder. The Muslims have denied any connection with the assassination.

Butler's arrest increased fear in Chicago for the safety of Black Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad and his heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, a prominent Muslim.

Some of Malcolm's followers have publicly vowed maximum retaliation against those responsible for their leader's death. The Muslims' convention opened today in Chicago amid reports that the Malcolm's allies planned to infiltrate it and seek revenge.

Butler is the second man charged in the slaying. Already in custody on a homicide charge was Talmadge Hayer, also known as Thomas Hagan, 22, apprehended outside the assassination hall after being shot in the leg, allegedly by one of Malcolm X's bodyguards, and rescued by police from an irate mob trying to beat him to death.

Solon Says Senate May Act Next Week On Tax Proposals

BOISE, Feb. 26 (UPI)—Senate President Pro Tem Jack M. Murphy said today the upper chamber probably will tackle the key sales tax issue Tuesday afternoon. The Lincoln county Republican said he will ask that a "time certain" for the debate be set at 2 p.m. The three per cent sales and use tax proposal passed the house Wednesday 49-30. It was the fourth time in eight years the house has approved such a measure. The previous four times the senate killed the bills. Passage of the sales tax proposal by the senate could clear the way for on-schedule adjournment of the legislature. The 60th day of the session—the last according to law—falls next Thursday. If the deadline isn't met, the legislature will have to go into overtime.

New Income Surtax Proposal Considered

By ROBIN TIBBETS
Times-News Staff Writer

BOISE, Feb. 26—An alternative to the sales tax proposal was expected to be reported out of house committee Friday. The proposal, introduced Wednesday by the revenue and taxation committee, imposes a one per cent surtax on taxable income before allowing for personal exemptions. Although, on first impression, it may sound like the already defeated Farm Bureau plan, this bill, according to Rep. Arvil Millar, R., Bingham, and chairman of the revenue and taxation committee of the house, says the similarity between the two bills ends with the fact that both proposed a surtax.

The proposal, states Millar, was presented about four inches of snow and falling at this time is very good. The area will be open Friday and lifts at the area have been repaired.

This week-end marks the fifth and final week of the Pomerelle ski school. A spokesman from the area reports that over 600 youngsters have taken advantage of the school this year.

Skiing conditions at Magic Mountain were reported as being very good Wednesday. Between See SKIING, Page 2, Col. 1

Despite the sales tax bill having already received approval by the house this week, and the Farm Bureau tax having been killed on Tuesday, Millar said his recommendation will be that the new surtax proposal be reported out of committee "so that the senate knows this is possible."

The sales tax bill is now awaiting consideration by the senate. Millar said Thursday that he does not know what the house or the senate reaction to the new surtax bill will be.

The proposal eliminates the deduction on Idaho income tax from federal income taxes in computing taxable income and changes the rates at which tax.

5 Governors Slate GOP Council Meet

BOISE, Feb. 26 (UPI)—Five Republican governors have been named to meet with the senate and senate leadership in the first meeting March 10 of the new Republican coordinating council.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, chairman of the Republican Governors' association, said the members of the council are John Love, Colorado; Nelson Rockefeller, New York; George Romney, Michigan; William Scranton, Pennsylvania; and himself.

Three other governors were named as alternates to the council: Mark Hatfield, Oregon; Henry Bellmon, Oklahoma; and Tim Babcock, Montana.

Smylie said the first meeting between the council and the U. S. congress leadership was tentatively set for March 10 at Washington, D.C.

In handling out diplomas to the 19 VISTA volunteers, Mrs. Johnson said:

"In some countries, and in our own, too, voices have been raised to say that a land as rich as ours can only produce a mink-lined civilization, marked by a moral decadence and the frenetic pursuit of push-button luxuries, a split-level, and a sports car. By what you are doing, you make these voices just so many hollow noises."

The graduates, including a married couple, range in age from 19 to 71. They will be assigned to pockets of poverty throughout the country to live and work with the poor. They serve for one year and are paid a bare subsistence.

There is no ban in either the constitution or lawbooks on sessions longer than 60 days and there have been many in the past. The 1963 session went 72 days.

But the lawmakers' pay of $10 per day stops at the end of 60 days although they continue to get their $25 per day expense allowance.

Sen. George Blick, R., Twin Falls, and Rep. William Lanting, R., Twin Falls, the majority leaders, respectively, in the senate and house, said that if the compromise formula gains acceptance in both branches adjournment should come on schedule.

"There is nothing that is holding the house back," Lanting said, noting that it has passed the sales tax bill, needed to finance the budget proposed by the joint finance-appropriations committee.

The sales tax and its companion proposals giving relief to income and property tax payers are expected to come to a vote in the senate early next week. There is no intention of hurrying them, however, and they will follow the normal legislative course.

President's Support Will Be Demanded

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26 (UPI)—President George Meany disclosed plans today to lead a delegation of top labor leaders to the White House to demand President Johnson's support for a $2 hourly minimum wage.

The present $1.25 an hour minimum is a poverty wage, Meany said. "We can't lick poverty in America without an increase."

The administration in the past has rejected organized labor's demands for an increase in the minimum wage.

However, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, in an appearance before the AFL-CIO executive council meeting here seemed to leave the door open for the first time while still refusing to commit the administration.

Wirtz said earlier this week that any such decision was up to President Johnson.

Sources here say they have received word from the administration that an increase in the minimum wage is under active consideration, due largely to pressure from the politically powerful AFL-CIO.

Meany's delegation will include Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers; David Dubinsky, president of the Ladies Garment Workers; and Jacob Potofsky, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

Saga of Wayward Sports Car Is Tale Of Major Headaches for Young Owner

Ronald Victor has a new Volkswagen, and that's a sports car for him. He hasn't always felt this way. He's just been convinced by a sports car salesman that a Volkswagen is a sports car with a propensity for racing.

It all started about three years ago when Victor, then 20 years old and bitten by the sports car bug, acquired a classy 1958 Corvette convertible.

He shaved the cylinders, tinkered with the transmission and polished the pistons until it was a dream of a dreamer.

Victor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor, who live west of Twin Falls, and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Johnson, 1624 Harmon Park avenue, took his pride and joy off to school with him at Idaho State university, Pocatello.

And for a time, all was sweetness and light between man and machine. But last summer the high-speed romance began to wane.

By that time Victor had discovered his hopped-up honey had a tendency to go a little faster than he figured, and it also was on the highway, and it also seemed to have a fascinating attraction for traffic officers.

He began to collect an imposing array of speeding tickets. Then, the latter part of last

Reds Try to Halt Geneva Meet Opening

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Soviet Union is trying to stall the opening of the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference, diplomatic sources said yesterday.

The United States and Britain, with strong backing from neutralists, are now planning a new effort to bring the Russians back to the session, reportedly in April.

The foreign office said yesterday Disarmament Minister Lord Chalfont would fly to New York and Washington Wednesday for meetings with United Nations delegates and administration officials on the issue. In Washington, he planned two days of talks with William C. Foster, director of the U.S. arms control agency and chief U.S. negotiator at the adjourned Geneva meetings.

Neutral and unaligned nations who have participated in the disarmament talks have expressed a strong desire that the session be resumed as soon as possible.

The Russians have informed the Western powers that they would not be interested in resuming the conference unless the allies come up with new arms reduction proposals to change previous accords.

Skiing

two and three inches of new snow fell at the area Sunday night. Temperatures at the area have been about 35 degrees.

A make-up class will be held Saturday for any students who missed one of the regular ski school sessions. Buses run to the area every Saturday from Olson's and Sun Valley stages.

Although no new snow has fallen at Sun Valley, skiing conditions there are reported as excellent. The weather is clear and cold. Snow depth on Baldy is 91 inches and 46 inches on the valley floor.

Soldier mountain near Fairfield is experiencing "real good" spring skiing now with "corn snow" conditions reported. Skiing at the area Thursday was described as good, and the weather as "beautiful."

Roads into the area, which experienced some washing during the recent flooding, are being graded and should be in good condition.

Ralph Cisco, spokesman for Rotarun ski area near Halley, reported that skiing at the area Wednesday was good to excellent. He said skiing should be good there this week-end. Skiers coming to this area will have good, hard-packed base.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

High pressure aloft will be the predominant weather feature over the Western states during the next five days. However, minor low-pressure moving across the northern end will weaken this high pressure area at times. At the surface high pressure will persist over the southern Intermountain region during much of the time through Wednesday.

Temperatures over the valleys of southern Idaho will average from two to eight degrees above normal during this period. Cooling is indicated over the week-end with warming again the first of next week. Nighttime temperatures will be higher over the week-end due to greater cloudiness. Normal maximum and minimum temperatures are 42-24, T. F. Falls 46-25 and Buhl 43-23.

Precipitation in the form of rain in the valleys and snow in the mountains will be less than normal through Wednesday. Light precipitation is possible over the week-end and again around Wednesday. Precipitation will average generally less than .10 of an inch in the valleys of southern Idaho.

Sunshine will be cut considerably over the week-end, with increasing amounts again the first of next week. Around 55 to 60 per cent of possible sunshine can be expected with an average cloudiness of from .5 to .7 of the sky covered. Winds will be stronger and at times gusty over the week-end with lighter winds again the first of next week.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

Warming is continuing over the valleys of southern Idaho. Maximum temperatures yesterday were up, from four to nine degrees over the previous 24-hour readings and are expected to show a few more degrees rise today. No precipitation was reported from the valleys of southern Idaho.

High pressure is located at the surface over eastern Utah and western Colorado and extends its coverage over much of the western half of the nation. A Pacific storm system is lying in the Pacific ocean with its storm center located off the Washington-Oregon coast. High pressure aloft also covers the Western states, but lower pressure aloft from the Gulf of Alaska will be moving across the northern half of the Western states forcing the high pressure to weaken and move southward.

High thin cloudiness has moved into the valleys of southern Idaho but considerable sunshine is still occurring. The storm system at the surface off the Pacific Northwest coast will be moving eastward during the next 24 to 36 hours with cloudiness thickening and lowering on Saturday in these valleys. There will be a chance for showers Saturday night and Sunday as the front moves across southern Idaho with precipitation amounts mostly light.

Maximum temperatures today will range in the 40s to lower 60s and cool slightly on Saturday, with the range from the mid 40s to upper 50s. Nighttime temperatures tonight will be higher at least in southern valleys, with minimum readings forecast in the 20s to mid 30s, except in Camas prairie where teens to low 20s are expected.

Death Toll High After Giant Storm

By United Press International
One of the worst storms in years swept out to sea today after hitting New England with a witch's brew of snow, sleet, rain and gale force winds. Widespread flooding occurred along the coast and many families were rescued from their homes by boat.

The giant storm, which began in the eastern Rocky mountains and used at least 30 deaths, Michigan reported 28 deaths, and Illinois, still buried under deep snow drifts, reported 14 deaths.

Indiana dug out from 20-inch snows, and schools were closed in parts of New York, Illinois, Indiana and Pennsylvania.

The storm's last gasp buffeted upstate New York with winds up to 55 miles an hour. Winds nearly as strong blew at Allentown and Erie, Pa., and at Wheeling, W. Va.

Winds hit more than 80 miles an hour in New England yesterday and peaked at 133 miles stop mile high Mt. Washington in New Hampshire. Desert Rock, off the Maine coast, was battered last night by winds of 86 miles that kicked up 35-foot seas.

Heavy snow still occurred today along the southern shores of Lakes Erie and Ontario and in the higher elevations of the Northeast. Five to 10 inches of snow were expected along the lakes by tonight, the weather bureau said.

Sports Car

finally was ready for the road again and went back into circulation.

The very next night, Victor's brother, David Victor, was driving in in downtown Twin Falls and it came to grief again. This time a collision at Second street and Second avenue west. Back to the boneyard it went.

This time, when repairs were finished, it was relegated to the Glen Jenkins warehouse on Railroad avenue to await an insurance settlement.

But that didn't end its peccadilloes.

Employees at Jenkins' noticed that the padlock on the warehouse door repeatedly turned up broken. It was rather puzzling since they could find nothing disturbed or missing.

Then, on one occasion, they noticed the marks which indicated the Corvette had been taken out and returned. The explanation, they decided, was that somebody was borrowing it for midnight drag racing.

Alvin W. Jenkins, sales manager for Jenkins' Chevrolet agency, says he figures, in all, the Corvette was "borrowed" six or seven times for this purpose.

Finally, it was brought back one night a little the worse for wear.

The fenders were banged up, the trunk lid had been pried open and the trunk lock knocked out.

This called for a change of address. The Corvette was moved from the warehouse back to Jenkins' body shop, but it didn't make any difference.

Tuesday night, just after repairs had been completed again, prospective drag racers broke into the warehouse again. The Corvette was missing, so they broke into the body shop. There it was, along with a shiny new 1965 Corvette.

Apparently, however, the new one didn't have the appeal of Old Faithful, because it was left safe in the garage, and Old Faithful went out again.

This time it ran out of gas. Ray Curry, and was spotted abandoned early Wednesday morning by police officers.

A short time later they arrested two young Twin Falls men and charged them with burglary in the theft of the car.

Victor's not interested in the Corvette now, except for one thing. He just wants to get things settled, get it out of the garage and sell it.

Sports cars, phooey!

Ex-Dietrich School Chief Talks in Area

DIETRICH, Feb. 26—Former superintendent of the Dietrich school, Neal A. Thomas, spoke to local students this week of South America, where he is the director of American schools at Cartagena, Colombia.

"This is a school for American students in South America and for South American students with higher learning ability."

Thomas is presently touring educational institutions in the U.S. to gather information to improve the schools in South America. On his arrival to the United States Thomas stopped at Washington, D.C., to confer with the senate subcommittee on education.

From Dietrich, he is going on to Los Angeles and then back to Chicago and Washington, D.C., before returning to South America.

Thomas's wife and family are also in South America. His wife, Ouida, teaches genetics and biology in the George Washington school.

Zoning

lots and partially used tracts of land within cities and villages first, where the necessary public services are already available or can be made available at the least expense.

A buffer zone should be set aside, adjacent to larger cities in the county, so cities can expand when nonfarm dwellings and other urban uses can be allowed.

The buffer zone should extend approximately one-half mile out from the city limits, depending upon the type, extent, and direction of growth of the city, the committee feels.

Non-farm dwellings and other urban-type uses should be prohibited from going into agricultural areas of the county, outside the buffer zone.

As a means to these ends, the committee feels that subdivisions should be required to make their lots at least five acres from each dwelling, which is the minimum size required to qualify for the agricultural exemption provision as established by state law.

All new dwellings constructed in the agricultural zone should be placed on a site containing at least five acres.

In this way, the committee feels, urbanization of the agricultural land would be inclined to seek home site in a city or in the buffer zone, rather than to the expense of acquiring five acres or more in the agricultural zone.

The subdivisions should be required to install all new streets in the subdivision and furnish culinary water to each dwelling site so this expense won't become an additional burden to the taxpayers.

The committee feels land should be maintained free of noxious weeds and unsightly dilapidated buildings in the buffer zone, as well as in the agricultural zone, as a means of preventing spreading into surrounding lands.

Contamination of the underground water supply should be prevented by requiring adequate provision for domestic sewage disposal in unsewered areas and zoning regulations should be adopted which will prevent eyesores and safety and health hazards from becoming established at random throughout the county and municipalities, the committee notes.

In addition, the committee reports that outdoor advertising signs should be required to be set back at least 50 feet from county, state and federal highways and at least 100 feet from intersections, except for signs which advertise the sale of agricultural products produced or sold on the premises.

Copies of the proposed ordinance as written by the zoning administration and a map are

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

BANGKOK, Feb. 26—Communist China's war to destroy the democratic state of Thailand is proceeding along classic lines. At this writing, there had been six strikes involving more than 3,000 workers in 30 days.

This approach—to create an atmosphere of unrest by disturbing the national peace—is a strategic must in a country such as Thailand, where there has been little dissatisfaction with the government. So far, guerrilla operations in the boondocks have been merely window-dressing designed to keep the government off balance while the Reds manipulate the workers.

SABOTAGE—The communist design was revealed clearly in the walkout of 940 skilled Thai workers at the 24 million dollar Nam Pong dam and irrigation project in Khonkhaen. This is in the heart of northeast Thailand, where the government is seeking to improve living conditions in the face of stepped up communist subversion.

When finished, the project will provide 25,000 kilowatts of electric power a day for Khonkhaen and seven neighboring provinces, irrigate 200,000 acres of land for double cropping, and prevent floods on the Nam Pong and Nam Chee rivers. Sabotaging the job has been given No. 1 priority by Peking, whose orders of the day stress the urgency of blocking "imperialist interference" in the Thai way of life—communist jargon for any move to better the people's lot.

MISS OPPORTUNITY—To Peking watchers, there was a blatant lack of finesse in this walkout. The workers demanded higher wages, despite the fact they are among the highest paid in the country. They earn about $69 in American money a month, compared to the $50 drawn by the average Bangkok newspaper reporter. And most of them were recruited locally in an area where the average annual wage is only $110 a year for farmers who admittedly live mostly off the land.

Observers here say the Reds missed the boat. The Nam Pong project is being built by a German firm and financed by a German loan—under contract to the Thai government. And although the German bosses are efficient, they are taskmasters, who would bring a smile to the lips of Simon Legree. A demand for better working conditions would have made some sense.

Peking has been heavy-handedly obvious in other ways. Somebody made off with a considerable supply of high tension wire supplying power to the construction site. And at the outset the strikers made it plain they were interested in striking, not negotiating. Their walkout occurred simultaneously with their demand for higher wages, before any negotiations were possible.

GOVERNMENT ALERT—To give credit where due, the Thai government has shown considerable alertness and horse sense in combating this Red attempt to sow dissension. More than 100 officials from several ministries have been assigned to push a crash development drive in areas troubled by communist infiltration. The drive is concentrated in provinces bordering the Mekong river frontier with Laos adjoining Laotian territory held by the communist Pathet Lao.

As in Singapore, where such social welfare projects as new public housing have won international attention, the Bangkok regime seems determined to fight communism by eliminating the conditions that breed it. If the present campaign continues successful, the Thais won't need quite so many guns to keep the Reds out of their country.

MISSILE GAP REVISITED

For illuminating one of the critical episodes of the cold war—the strange case of the missile gap—Everett S. Allen of the New Bedford (Mass.) Standard-Times deserves the country's thanks. The Associated Press distributed his stories, and the Post-Dispatch was happy to publish them. Now that American superiority in long-range missiles is so thoroughly established it is fascinating to ponder how the nation came to believe, only a few years ago, that the Russians were on the way to an almost inevitable superiority that threatened our very existence.

The basic error of our intelligence estimate was to assume that, because the Soviets had industrial capacity to produce a certain number of missiles they would produce and deploy all they could. The Russians threw us off by not employing their productive plant to full capacity, and so we were able to build far more than they did.

More was involved than intelligence estimates, however, and the experience is instructive for future national conduct. Many of our leaders could readily believe in the missile gap because they considered it axiomatic that the Russians would seek military superiority at all costs, that they would attack if they could, that they could be deterred from war only by overwhelming military superiority on our side. In other words, we were virtually arming for self-defense, and the Russians were wickedly arming for aggression—that was the thought, and unfortunately in some circles still is.

The case of the missile gap suggests that the Russians may be deterred from war not by the fear of losing it, but by the fear of war. It also indicates that their pathological addiction to secrecy may be intended to cover up weakness rather than strength.

Altogether, the case of an ever-expanding arms race as the road to security has been notably weakened.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

BATTLE OF BULGE

According to the Harris poll, 46 million Americans know they are overweight, are cognizant of the threat that obesity poses to health and yet do little about it. Affluence, the decline of physical activity and perhaps a recession of vanity in middle life can explain those unsightly bulges.

There is also a matter of morale. We know a man who has gained and lost nearly 1,000 pounds in the last 20 years. Upswing in his avowedly cyclical career has been characterized by pleasure, downswing by the agony of deprivation as gustatory satisfaction is replaced by carrots, cottage cheese and skimmed milk. Perhaps science will one day provide a safe and painless formula for the maintenance of one's optimal weight.

Until then, one must ignore the problem while the other, like Sisyphus, is consigned to fighting an uphill battle.—Washington (D. C.) Post.

BIG BOMB OR A PUFF?

Indonesia's claim that it has 200 scientists working to make an atomic bomb, and that we can expect a "surprise" in October, is probably just what a Washington official called it, "sheer puffery."

At any rate, it had better be.

For if the Indonesians can make a bomb with only 200 men working on it, and using beet-nut juice, coconut husks and whatever else they have for ingredients, there will surely be some embarrassing questions asked of the surviving leaders of our 100,000-man World War II Manhattan project.—Denver Post.

IT'LL ALL BE WASTE

The U. S. atomic energy commission's radioactive waste pile at Richland, Wash., will cease to become dangerous in the year 2959. By that time, the squabbles in the United Nations may be settled, too.—Edmonton (Alberta) Journal.

ODE TO FRIENDSHIP

Friendship is like a bloomin' rose.
Given care, my how it grows!
A little help from both sides
And it can stand both wind and tides.

But let one side just start to cool;
This can upset Mother Nature's rule:
The weeds of doubt begin to grow—
It is time now—go get your hoe!

These weeds of doubt along one side,
Will soon the roses override;
They will be gone and mighty soon,
There will not be one single bloom!

Now beyond a doubt you'll soon forget
The name of the man who wrote this bit;
The lines themselves, remember well,
They will save you from many days in hell!

I'll trust in Him who reigns on high,
Way up there in an azure sky.
He can plead my case. He knows how best
And I guess in Him I'll let this rest.

Interpreting the News

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A new element, despair, may become the deciding factor for the United States in Viet Nam, a country beginning to look like a comic opera.

It has cost the United States hundreds of lives and billions of dollars to back South Viet Nam in the war against the communist guerrillas ever since 1955 when the government there asked for help.

But that government, headed by President Ngo Dinh Diem, is gone and in the 16 months since he was assassinated there have been at least eight new governments.

The actual change hands overnight, as they did in the past few days. Old leaders get bounced, new leaders take over. The new leaders become the old leaders, and they get bounced.

The changes haven't come from the people but from the ambitious generals whom Mike Mansfield of Montana, the senate's Democratic leader, calls the "jealous generals."

Meanwhile, there's supposed to be a war going on against the guerrillas and the United States is standing by with men, guns and planes, waiting to get on with it.

While it waits, the United States can't duck the basic question: How can it get on with the war if the Vietnamese leaders are more taken with shoving one another around than shoving the guerrillas around?

The war has been going from bad to worse, steadily, and here there is divided opinion on what to do: step up the war against the Reds, don't step it up but just go on helping the South Vietnamese, or get out.

Unless the Vietnamese begin showing an earnest interest in preventing a communist take-over, the reaction in this country almost inevitably will be despair that the Vietnamese can be helped or are worth helping.

In getting into this fight the United States has given a couple of reasons, one idealistic—to help the Vietnamese preserve their independence, and the other realistic—to prevent communism from taking over all Southeast Asia.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower once explained that the farther communism advances, the more the United States would have to pull its defenses back toward the American shores.

But the idealistic reason will be rendered ridiculous if the Vietnamese show themselves incapable of orderly government and more concerned with factional disputes than saving themselves from communism.

And the realistic reason—using American forces to fight the guerrillas in Viet Nam—will look more and more like colonialism and aggression if the South Vietnamese themselves are indifferent about the Reds.

The more the chaos in South Viet Nam, therefore, the harder for the United States to justify before the world its continued presence in Viet Nam.

Mansfield said: "The jealous generals of Saigon should realize that the hour is very late."

The United States is committed to aid the people of Viet Nam. It is not committed to continued subsidy of intramilitary struggles for power and prestige with American lives and resources.

There is a view that the United States should step up the war against the Reds, if necessary, to show them this country won't yield and when this has been done, work out a settlement with them.

But even if the United States tried that it could not escape this bitter thought: If there is no stability in South Viet Nam, if a settlement is worked out with the Reds it only mean an eventual communist take-over if South Viet Nam disintegrates further and no real government is possible there.

World Corners

When the European Common Market came into being on Jan. 1, 1959, the goal of its six founding nations was to weld 100 million people into a powerful economic and political bloc which later would be extended to the whole of Western Europe and 300 million people.

The economic boom which spread through the six nations—West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—now is established as one of the brightest spots in post World War II history.

Other goals proved more difficult. Political unity, if it ever is to come, still is years away.

On Jan. 14, 1963, President Charles de Gaulle of France vetoed British entry into the Common Market and so far as the British were concerned the issue seemed dead, at least for as long as de Gaulle remained alive or in power.

It seemed doubly so after the British Labor party election victory last October. The Laborites had led the opposition at the polls.

Home to British participation in the common market without specific guarantees to British commonwealth nations.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson had said Britain could build a new economy within the framework of the Commonwealth.

It was something of a surprise then that within Britain talk of the Common Market suddenly revived.

At the Common Market headquarters in Brussels, the new British Foreign Minister Michael Stewart delivered a strong defense of Britain's right to a place in Europe, coupled with a warning against a "closed shop" among the six which eventually would accentuate Europe's economic and political differences.

A speech by conservative leader Sir Alec Douglas-Home suggested that the Conservatives may make a chief election issue out of another bid for common market entry.

The British are looking hopefully toward the scheduled de Gaulle-Wilson meeting April 1-3. De Gaulle is said to be anxious to remove the chill from French-British relations and to regard increased technical and financial cooperation as a first step.

Putting pressure on de Gaulle is the fact that the French economic surge is losing some of its power and unemployment is rising.

The $1.25 an hour minimum wage is a poverty wage. We can't lick poverty in America without an increase in this minimum.

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

Down goes our gold again—

We lose a billion dollars backing the dollar. Fiscalist—the reserve drops to another new 28-year low. But why should all correctives make our citizens the patsies?

While Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon and the other Washington Robin Hoods of the Red Ink ponder a $100-a-body loss, Henry J. Taylor, an ex-vice president of the company, is at home—only he has the gumption and courage to tap it.

Dickens' Tiny Tim cried out, "There was never such a squash." I echo Tiny Tim about the biggest squish in U.S. financial history. It's officially called counterparty funds, but few taxpayers even know about it.

Billions of U.S. government (that is, taxpayers') dollars in the form of foreign currencies lay accumulating abroad. They're a tap in many of the world's most popular travel centers—Spain, Italy, Austria and most Western European countries, other interesting places like India and much of the Far East. In Thailand, for example, our counterparty funds on deposit exceed half of the total money in circulation.

These enormous deposits, covered by treaties that should be renegotiated, accrue from local currency payments for commodities and goods our government has sold abroad—chiefly agricultural products under public law 480. The catch is that the payment money must be spent inside the country. But who spends the currency does not hurt the local economy.

Traveling congressmen and other officials cash in on these local currencies. Treasury officials admit its deposits are so overabundant we cannot conceivably employ them even by building numerous new embassies, as in New Delhi, and an American-Italian institute near Florence, etc. In fact, Washington free loaders often trot out this excuse of overabundance as their alibi for lush junkets.

Abuses I've seen at the American embassy in Switzerland are almost sickening, and I speak with some feeling because there is no justification whatever. No counterparty funds are generated in that hard-currency country.

Other officials cash in on these local currencies. Treasury officials admit its deposits are so overabundant we cannot conceivably employ them even by building numerous new embassies, as in New Delhi, and an American-Italian institute near Florence, etc. In fact, Washington free loaders often trot out this excuse of overabundance as their alibi for lush junkets.

Yet the U.S. treasury spends part funds into Swiss francs, the state department authorizes the franc distribution free of charge, agency bureaucrats accompanying whatnots in Switzerland.

The state department is blameless. Under a little-known law, Treasury must pre-notify the embassy in Geneva, typically, an arriving Greenman telephones the consulate to send him a bundle of good-bye Swiss francs.

The designee doesn't even have to receipt for the amount—perhaps $2,500 at a crack. And he cracks the till as often as he cracks the signature of his boss. (The signature of his boss is his party is good enough. Nor need he account for the cash when he comes home—how he spends it, or even whether he spends it.)

Moreover, counterparty funds of a type convertible into Swiss francs should be transferred, instead, back to the U.S. taxpayer treasury where they belong. This brings us to the gold problem.

Treasury officials say dollars that traveling Americans spend abroad seriously aggravate the gold outflow. True. Then promptly their brains turn to loading still another burden on our own citizens.

We peasants aren't responsible for the balance of payments problem, the government overspending mess, Washington's failure to collect billions still owed from debtor nations, like France, that now somehow call themselves creditors, or other features of the gold crisis. It's the fault of our money managers who have fallen flat on their faces. But we want to do our part to help.

The same public servants, however, who order up government jets costing as high as $60 million, Royce limousines and $230 an hour to fly, and that, too, at any place, any time, should penalize the little man who wants to travel.

The U.S. treasury's counterparty funds abroad are good enough to hand out free to official free loaders. What's the matter with selling—selling—these to American travelers, plain citizens, who have no inside track?

The treasury could sell drafts on its local currency deposits abroad, dollars right at home in exchange and the resultant squish that represents taxpayers' money, after all, follows peasants, the U.S. government can do this for us in the gold crisis—and should.

Wildlife Week Slated March 14-20

Water, America's most vital natural resource, will be the center of attention during National Wildlife week scheduled for March 14-20.

Members of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game Department association are asking every citizen of Idaho to join the fight for water pollution in efforts to insure enough "clean" water for America's present and future needs.

"By 1980 America will need 600 billion gallons of water each day," stated Bud Drexler, district chairman. "By the year 2000 we will need a trillion gallons daily. It would take a tank-car train 600,000 miles long to haul it. But unless we can find a cheap way to convert salt water to fresh, hydrologists estimate our maximum fresh water supply will be only 650 million gallons a day."

National Wildlife week, sponsored by the National Wildlife federation, is held each year during the week in which the first day of spring occurs. It was first proclaimed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1938.

The purpose of National Wildlife week is to focus public attention on the importance of natural resource conservation and highlights specific conservation issues.

This year the theme will be "Pollution Abatement," and the slogan is "Fight Dirty Water."

Positive steps which can be taken by citizens and government agencies on the local, state and national level to control or eliminate pollution of all kinds will be emphasized during the 1965 observance, according to Drexler.

Every Idaho citizen is urged to take an active interest in this year's national Wildlife week observance.

Drexler said that Gov. Robert E. Smylie will officially proclaim March 14-20 as National Wildlife week in Idaho.

BOISE, Feb. 26 (AP)—The house passed and sent to the senate yesterday a bill requiring that vacancies in the office of precinct committeemen be filled by a qualified elector residing in the precinct involved. The measure, dubbed "the little carpetbagger bill," was approved without debate but nine dissenting votes were cast. A companion bill, that would require precinct committeemen to reside in the precinct from which they are elected, was held over and placed at an order of business permitting amendment. Sponsors said the bill would be amended to clarify a minor point.

BOISE, Feb. 26 (AP)—A bill that would require retailers to have attendants on hand to dispense inflammable or explosive products such as gasoline was approved yesterday by the Idaho house of representatives. Rep. Don Pieper, D., Bonnellville, pointed out that most cities have such regulations but said coin-operated gasoline stations have begun "springing up just outside the city limits." Pieper, operator of a chain of service stations, said the bill would affect the eight coin-operated service stations in Idaho. But, he said, "It wouldn't put them out of business. It would just change their method of operation." "Actually," he said, "this bill is not a bill pointed at anyone in particular. It is simply designed to diminish the hazard involved in dispensing inflammable or explosive products."

BOISE, Feb. 26 (AP)—The senate memorialized 12 former senators who died since the adjournment of the 1963 session in brief ceremonies yesterday. Those memorialized were: Morris Stacy, Custer county; Andrew Aikell, Butte county; C. A. Bottolfsen, former governor and senator from Butte county; Robert Burns Hafferty, Valley county; George Curtis, former secretary of state and senator from Ada county; A. P. Beymer, Minidoka county; Carl E. Brown, Valley county; K. C. Barlow, Cassia county; Robert Mills, Boise county; Bert Call, Jefferson county; Vernon Daniel, Payette county; and Clifford Friend, Latah county.

BOISE, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Idaho house killed yesterday a bill calling for an increase in tuition at the University of Idaho and Idaho State university but later reconsidered the vote and put the measure up for amendment. The proposal would boost non-resident student cost with a minimum of $750 a year. Proponents argued that Idaho taxpayers were subsidizing non-resident students to the tune of 1.3 million dollars a year "by not setting up a realistic tuition schedule." Rep. George Brocke, D., Latah, said, however, he felt the setting of tuition fees was a function of the state board of regents and not the legislature. He agreed the present non-resident rate might be a "little low" but said the board should raise it but not to a point where we would "price the schools out of business." Brocke said he understood that nearly half the students enrolled in the ISU school of Pharmacy were from out of state. "If we raise these students away from ISU," he said, "I wonder if it would be economically feasible to continue operation of the School of Pharmacy."

BOISE, Feb. 26 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie said yesterday he believes there will be no effort to trade votes as a result of the passage of a bill revising Idaho's referendum law. He also declined comment on whether he would sign or veto the bill if it reaches his desk. The bill was passed Wednesday in the senate. It reduces the time between the end of a legislative session and the deadline for filing referendum petitions. It also advances the date of a referendum election so that it would come before the beginning of a new fiscal year. There have been suggestions that the changes in the referendum procedure were made as a means of gaining affirmative votes in the senate on the sales tax bill, which passed the house Wednesday. Asked to comment on suggestions there would be trading among legislators in an effort to assure completion of legislative action on both measures, Smylie told a news conference: "I don't think any hatching is going to go on over a matter of such extreme importance. It would be unbecoming to either house."

Courthouse Tour Made by League of Women Voters

With the intent to publish a booklet for laymen on county government, nine members of the Twin Falls League of Women Voters toured the county courthouse Wednesday afternoon.

The members of the league left the courthouse after their tour with a feeling that more people should be aware of county government, especially the five offices they visited at the local courthouse.

According to Mrs. Lorena Davidson, one of the league members, the office heads the league visited were "very gracious and went out of their way to tell us about the offices they head."

"They seem to feel more people should show an interest," Mrs. Davidson said.

Highlight of the tour was an explanation of the new microfilming process by Harold Lancaster, in the clerk, auditor and recorder's office.

Lancaster explained to the group that the new microfilming process, which takes only a matter of minutes to make an original copy and duplicates, will save considerable space in the clerk's office.

Space is a problem now with the increased work in recording documents, Lancaster noted.

For example, he said, they can now file, in the same space where once only 16 books could be filed, microfilmed records which would before fill 80 books.

The cost for filing one book was about $400, but by using microfilm the same number of pages can be microfilmed and stored for about $100, Lancaster pointed out.

A working copy usually is microfilmed along with the original microfilmed document. The copy is kept in the county clerk's office and the original is stored in a fireproof safe. For a small fee copies of records can be reproduced, Lancaster noted.

The league also toured the sheriff's office where Sheriff James H. Benham explained the functions and operations of his office.

He also explained his duties in relation to the duties of the city police and noted that all city patrolmen are deputized so they may follow suspects out of the city limits.

Benham also explained the radio system in the sheriff's office and noted that the county is the only one in southern Idaho capable of handling federal prisoners.

In probate court, Judge Zoe Ann Shaul explained the duties of her court and also the relation of her court to district court.

Judge Shaul explained that about 50 per cent of her time is spent with juveniles and the remainder is spent on probating wills and estates.

Clifford Thompson, county assessor, explained the functions of his office and noted that a primary job is to sell license plates.

He also explained the revaluation program to the league members.

Mrs. Ruth K. Jones, county treasurer, discussed the machinery in her office and her duties. The league hopes to publish a book on county government in laymen's terms for schools and other interested persons. About 10 minutes was spent in each of the county offices.

Job Corps Applications Are Needed

Job Corps training centers are getting under way in the Northwestern United States to help young boys and girls between the ages of 16 to 21 years old, says Olen Genn, Twin Falls county agent in charge of the youth program. Genn was quick to point out that boys and girls of this area have been complimented by insistence that those eligible make application. Responsible people in the Job Corps have pointed out that local youth in this area are needed in the training centers, especially for outdoor work, because they are already oriented and adjusted to that type of work and training. It was recently explained that many youths from the big cities of the country will need co-workers' help when they start their training. It was explained that eligible youths from the Northwest will be needed and many will have an advantage for promotion simply because they already know the difference in varieties of forest trees and how plants grow. Those young people between the ages of 16 and 21 who are eligible and interested should make application to the Job Corps, Washington, D. C., the county agent said.

TWIN FALLS COUNTY weed bureau Supervisor W. B. Savage prepares information to inform county farmers of the danger of poisonous water hemlock which has been found in the county. (Times-News photo)

Weed Bureau Advises Area Farmers Against Hemlock

The Twin Falls county weed bureau would like to bring to the attention of the farmers and livestock people of the county, that the poisonous plant Water Hemlock is starting to grow this spring, said W. B. Savage, director.

There have been two head of cattle lost already this spring in the Murtaugh area. "We urge you to look for this plant and destroy it," said Savage.

Water Hemlock is probably the most poisonous plant in the United States. Only a small amount of the toxic substance is necessary to produce poisoning in livestock or in man.

The underground portions of the plant, especially the tuberous roots, are very dangerous. Severe livestock losses may occur when the roots become exposed and are eaten by animals. People are sometimes poisoned by eating the roots which they mistake for wild parsnips.

The toxic substance in Water Hemlock is cicutoxin, a thick yellowish liquid that has a strong carrotlike odor. It is found principally in the roots, but is also present in the leaves and stems during early growth. Leaves and stems lose most of their toxicity as they mature.

Water Hemlock, a wetland plant, is commonly found in wet meadows, pastures, streams, and ditches. It starts growth in early spring and in the higher elevations flowers in June or July. Livestock usually show symptoms of poisoning one to six hours after they eat the plant; they may die within one to two hours after symptoms appear.

Symptoms of Water Hemlock poisoning are muscle twitching, rapid pulse, rapid breathing, tremors, convulsions, dilation of the pupils, excessive salivation, frothing at the mouth and coma. Livestock owners can reduce losses by keeping animals away from places where water hemlock grows, and by eradicating the plants.

The plant usually grows in small patches, and are easy to locate and eradicate. They can be eradicated by grubbing or by spraying them with a herbicide such as 2,4-D or 2,4,5-T. When plants are actively growing, apply a spray at the rate of two to four pounds of acid equivalent per acre. If they are grubbed, plant parts, especially the roots, must be gathered and burned. If they are sprayed, followup treatments are necessary until eradication is complete.

There is no effective treatment for Water Hemlock poisoning. Toxic substance acts so rapidly that an affected animal can seldom be saved.

There are about eight Water Hemlock listed in literature, all extremely poisonous. Cicuta douglasii, Western water hemlock, is a common species in the western range states, said Savage.

Fewer Hogs Are Predicted in Review Of Meat Situation by U.S. Agency

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The agriculture department says hog slaughter this winter and spring will probably be down five to 10 per cent from a year earlier. Prices to farmers probably will average moderately higher, making 1965 a more profitable year than 1964.

The department's predictions of pork supply and estimates of farm prices for live hogs were based on an eight per cent drop in the June-November, 1964, pig crop, source of most slaughter supplies during the first half of 1965.

In a review of the livestock and meat situation, the department said farmers reported intentions as of Dec. 1 to have seven per cent fewer sows farrow in the 1965 spring season than in 1964. This would result in the smallest spring, December-May, pig crop since 1937. Because of sheer lack of numbers, hog slaughter in the last half of 1965 would remain well below that of 1964.

The agency said the current uptrend in hog prices may cause some farmers to have more sows farrow than intended on Dec. 1. But breeding stock is down and the current outlook is for late spring farrowing to be down at least moderately from that of 1964. This is likely to cause hog prices to average higher than a year earlier through most of the second half of 1965.

Department economists expect fed cattle marketings to continue large this winter and spring, although somewhat below early 1964 rates.

The department said fed cattle prices, however, likely will strengthen a little from 1964 and average well above the 1964 January-March average of $21.84 per 100 pounds. Prices in the spring may decline a little from those this winter, but still are expected to average well below the year-earlier average of $21.12. The agency said West Coast market prices will not show as much strength as Midwest markets.

The department said improvement in feeder cattle prices will depend on continued price strength in fed cattle markets and better grazing conditions.

The department predicted sheep and lamb slaughter in the first quarter of 1965 will be down substantially from a year ago. The number of sheep and lambs on feed Jan. 1 was down nine per cent from a year earlier.

The inventory of 3.7 million head was the smallest on feed Jan. 1 since records were started in 1920.

Fewer milk cows and a decrease in the production per cow resulted in a relatively low total milk output in 1964.

World Milk Total Is Estimated

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The foreign agricultural service estimates world milk production in 1964 was about the same as in 1963. This guess was based on preliminary information from 26 countries which normally supply about 85 per cent of the world output.

Output in these countries in 1964 was estimated at 622.5 billion pounds, compared with 622.2 billion pounds, compared with 622.1 billion pounds in 1963.

Output in Western Europe, the principal producing area, was believed to be down about one per cent from the previous year. FAS said major factors contributing to this decrease were declining cow numbers and unfavorable midsummer grazing conditions in several countries. There were low cow numbers and dry conditions in Belgium and Italy, drought in France, poor pasture in Switzerland, and adverse weather in the United Kingdom.

Milk production in communist eastern Europe was about unchanged in 1964 from 1963.

A decline of about two per cent was forecast for South American output. Production was down in Brazil, Argentina, and Chile, but up in Colombia, Uruguay, Venezuela, and Peru.

Record production was forecast for New Zealand and heavier output for Australia.

Milk output in the United States and Canada during 1964 was up over that of 1963.

Buhl Firm Undertakes Manufacture Of New Protein Block for Livestock

BUHL, Feb. 26—Rangen, Inc., has added a new product for livestock feeding—a range protein block.

The manufacture of the block got under way this month and company officials are predicting a bright future for the new product. The block is about nine inches square and a little over a foot long. It weighs 50 pounds and, in general size and shape, resembles an ordinary salt block.

Appearance is where the similarity ends. In recent years range pellets have increased in use and manufacture. The protein block takes the range pellet idea a step further.

The block is made up primarily of cottonseed meal to which vitamins A and D are added. There are 20,000 international units of vitamin A and 5,000 international units of vitamin D added, per pound.

Control is maintained by using salt in the block.

The block has several advantages over the pellet. In that it can be dropped at random over the range. The only requirement is it should be located near drinking water.

As many livestock men are starting to winter livestock on rangeland—the block becomes even more appealing.

A load of blocks can be distributed out of the back end of a pickup truck with little or no difficulty. They could be easily dropped from an airplane if conditions warrant such an undertaking.

The blocks can be put on a stake or left on the ground, depending on the farmer's choice. The block is mainly a protein supplement and can be obtained in rates of 20 per cent, 32 per cent and 54 per cent protein.

According to John Conover, Rangen production manager, the blocks should be fed at the rate of one block per 10 head of cattle or one block per 45 head of sheep.

The block-making machine is a California Relating Mill Continuous-Flow blocker. As far as Conover can determine, it is the only one of its kind in Idaho. Rangen set some kind of a company record in getting the machine into operation.

From the time it arrived in the early part of February until it was set up and in operation was less than a week.

Conover noted that much of the desert area of Idaho is being converted to range grasses such as crested and Siberian wheatgrass. These grasses are making it possible for livestock men to winter animals on the range.

With supplemental feeding available with range protein blocks, cattle and sheep can survive on a grass range throughout the winter.

Conover recently returned from a marketing study trip into Oregon and other regions in the Intermountain area. Reaction to the new block has been excellent, claims Conover.

Conover recently returned from a marketing study trip into Oregon and other regions in the Intermountain area. Reaction to the new block has been excellent, claims Conover.

It is conceivable the Buhl firm could market the block into Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada and parts of Utah.

Both general officers of the company, Theodor Rangen, president, and Thorleif Rangen, secretary, view the new operation with optimism.

It is one thing to manufacture ture a supplement which is good for livestock and it is another to get them to eat it. The Rangen protein block has a touch of molasses. Tests to date indicate the cattle like the product.

Visitor Helps Organize Local Paint Horse Group

Art Beall, well-known Paint Stock Horse breeder from Oklahoma and member of the board of directors of the American Paint Stock Horse association, was in Twin Falls recently. His interest was primarily to inspect Paint Stock horses in the area for eligibility in a Paint Stock Horse sale to be held in April in Oklahoma.

During Beall's visit a meeting of Magic Valley residents interested in the Paint Stock Horse was held and under his direction a local organization, Idaho Paint Stock Horse Club, was formed in affiliation with the American Paint Stock Horse association.

It is hoped through this organization to promote interest and promote shows and sales in this area. Horses shown in approved local shows will obtain points to qualify in the National American Paint Stock Horse association show.

A further objective of the organization is to promote selective breeding of the Paint Stock Horse to advance conformation and outstanding color.

A meeting of the club and any one interested in the promot-tion of the Paint Stock horse is being held March 2 at the Twin Falls Gun club located on North Washington street. Any further information can be obtained from Louise Sterling.

Officers elected were Dr. Lyle Wonderlich, president; James N. Moore, vice president; Louise Sterling, secretary-treasurer; directors elected were Wayne Peterson, Gordon Dunlap and Harry Bolton.

Challenging Work Program Undertaken by Soil Group

SHOSHONE, Feb. 28—Members of the Wood River soil and water conservation district have approved a varied and challenging work program for 1965, as prepared and approved under direction of a special committee.

Members of the committee are Corwin Silva, north Shoshone, chairman; Oscar Kerner and Floyd Silva.

Events planned include assistance to high school or grade school classes which desire to conduct resource conservation programs as part of their courses of study. These programs will probably take place in April or May. In June there will be a tour of a portion of the rangeland developments in the Richfield area.

Throughout the year, the district will sponsor an art contest with three divisions, senior, junior and pee-wee, using the same provisions as 1964.

Paintings will be judged about Aug. 5 and will be shown at the county fair. Cash prizes will be awarded at a special awards ceremony in December. This contest is open to everyone.

The rules include paintings in oil on canvas, minimum 16 by 20 inches and natural scenes featuring natural resources or man-made conservation works such as reservoir dams.

District supervisors will again support the grassman of the year contest. Granges, Farm Bureau and others will sponsor their candidates, and are asked to select them early, so that briefs of the candidates farms can be written and made ready when the tour is announced.

HIRSCH NAMED
CHICAGO, Feb. 26—Donald E. Hirsch has been named assistant managing director of the Farm Bureau Trade Development corporation, effective April 1. The appointment was announced by Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

TRY TIMES-NEWS WANT ADS FOR FAST SELLING RESULTS

According to Cecil Cope, conservationist, there will probably be a tour of some of the farms on which pipelines, concrete lined ditches, land leveling, well constructed head gates and other construction practices have been installed.

This tour is tentatively scheduled for October and it is this and the range tour that both farm and non-farm people are urged to attend. Those in the business of loaning money for such work may be particularly interested in this tour.

The district will sponsor the Camp Fire girls again this year. They will assist with FFA, 4-H, Boy Scouts and other organizations in promoting their work. Soil information is available for their programs.

Idaho fish and game department will plant windbreaks for farmers and will consider plantings near cities and towns. Those desiring windbreak plantings should make their request at the SOS office in Shoshone.

Fish and game department officials would like to have all requests in by March 1. Planting stock is furnished free of charge and the Idaho fish and game department will do the planting. The recipient prepares the site and agrees to irrigate, kill weeds and protect against livestock damage.

SUGAR BEET GROWERS:

How nematode control with D-D® Soil Fumigant boosts tonnage and sugar yield, pays for itself many times over

ONE square foot of infested soil can hold millions of destructive nematodes. These microscopic pests attack roots and sharply reduce your crop's ability to take up water and nutrients. Sugar beets attacked by nematodes are limp, yellow and usually no more than half-grown—(symptoms often mistaken for lack of water or fertilizer). The net result of a nematode attack can be drastically lowered sugar yields and a lower dollar return.

D-D Soil Fumigant guards against these losses. It can produce remarkable beet yield increases and often makes a spectacular difference in dollar return.

That's why the cost of soil fumigation with D-D pays for itself many times over.

Two nematodes damage beets

The two most important nematodes that attack beets are sugar beet nematodes and root-knot nematode. Damage they do shows up as wilted leaves, stunted and deformed beets, greatly reduced yields and lower sugar content. (See picture at right.)

How D-D works

When D-D is injected into the soil, it moves in all directions from the point of injection, killing nematodes as it spreads. One application will see your crop through to a nematode-free successful harvest.

How to apply D-D

D-D can be applied with any kind of soil injection equipment. Shanks should be spaced no more than 12 inches apart so that the D-D will spread through the entire area treated.

For best results, application should be made when soil moisture and tilth is right for planting and good seed germination.

Consult local authorities for the proper waiting period between application and planting.

Dosages

As little as 25 to 30 gallons per acre of D-D will control sugar beet nematodes. Root-knot nematodes require 20 to 25 gallons per acre.

NOTE: Even though you treat with D-D now, you should make another application if you plan to plant a second, nematode-susceptible crop this season. Because nematode species and degree of infestation may vary from place to place, it's a good idea to check local authorities for the best dosage rate, timing of application, and equipment to use, in your area.

Custom applicators

Custom applicators are available in many areas. Using their services may be the most economical and efficient way to get your land treated with D-D Soil Fumigant.

Where to get D-D. D-D Soil Fumigant is available from your local pesticide supplier under many well-known brand names. Be sure to check the label for the name D-D.

For more information on nematode control for sugar beets and other crops, write Shell Chemical Company, Agricultural Chemicals Division, 100 Bush St., San Francisco 6, Calif.

Before using any pesticide, carefully read and follow label directions.

Lambs for Slaughter Increase

BOISE, Feb. 26.—The number of sheep and lambs being slaughtered in Idaho on Jan. 1 is estimated at 129,000 head, three per cent more than a year earlier, according to the crop reporting service.

The bulk of the lambs on feed Jan. 1 were in near marketable condition. Fet lambs have been moving to market at a moderate to rapid rate in recent weeks.

About 66 per cent of the sheep and lambs were in southcentral Idaho, compared with about 55 per cent of the total a year ago. Feeders in eastern Idaho were fattening 35 per cent of the state's total, compared with 41 per cent last year.

The bulk of the remainder were being fed in the southwestern part of the state.

Sheep and lambs on feed for market Jan. 1, 1965, in 26 states decreased nine per cent from the number on feed a year earlier. This year's number at 3,227,000 head, is 346,000 head below the Jan. 1, 1964, level of 3,573,000 head.

Lack of moisture curtailed growth on ranges and pastures in many areas of the United States during the fall. Weather was generally favorable for grazing in most areas but supplies of grazing feed were below a year earlier and average.

Wheat pastures in southern and central plains provided only limited pasturing due to shortage of moisture early in the grazing season. Corn Belt feed supplies are generally good.

There were 1,325,000 sheep and lambs on feed in the north central states on Jan. 1. This was a 12 per cent decrease from the 2,081,000 head on feed a year earlier. All states were below a year earlier except Michigan, which was unchanged.

Kansas showed the sharpest decrease with numbers 41 per cent below the previous year.

Other declines were: Minnesota, 32 per cent; Wisconsin, 12 per cent; North Dakota, 11 per cent; Ohio, 10 per cent; Nebraska, nine per cent; Illinois, eight per cent; Indiana, and South Dakota, seven per cent; Iowa and Missouri, three per cent.

Feeder sheep and lamb shipments into part of the Corn Belt states for which data are available totaled 1,452,660 head from July through November, 1964. This was one per cent above the number of shipments for the same period in 1963.

There were 1,342,000 sheep and lambs on feed in the Western states Jan. 1, 1965, a decrease of three per cent from the 1,380,000 head on feed a year earlier. Elsewhere, a decrease in the number of sheep and lambs being fed while four states are higher. Nevada shows no change.

Colorado, the main sheep and lamb feeding state in the nation, had 476,000 head on Jan. 1, a nine per cent decline from the number on feed a year earlier. California, the second largest western feeding state, had 247,000 sheep and lambs on feed Jan. 1, 1965, an increase of two per cent from a year earlier.

On Jan. 1, sheep and lambs on feed for market totaled 1,956,000 head in the seven major feeding states. This was a decrease of 11 per cent, or 241,000 head from the 2,197,000 head on feed Jan. 1, 1964, and 204,000 head below the Nov. 1, 1964 number on feed. These seven major feeding states accounted for 59 per cent of the number on feed in the 26 states Jan. 1, 1965.

All seven states except California were below the Jan. 1, 1964 level and all seven states except Kansas were below the Nov. 1, 1964 number on feed.

Conflict Can Derail Beef

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (UPI)—A top agriculture department official says the department is worried by conflicts within the meat and livestock industry over proposed changes in federal beef grades.

The department has proposed to reduce the amount of fat in a number of federal beef grades. A final decision on the proposal has been delayed for many months by industry disputes over the plan.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary George Mohrman said that a change in the grades is necessary. But, Mohrman added in a Chicago speech that he's concerned about "the severe difficulties in arriving at a consensus on beef grades."

2 Holsteins Take Rupert Herd Honors

RUPERT, Feb. 26.—Two grade Holsteins owned by Lester Roy took top honors in DHIA unit for January, according to B. T. Grandall, unit supervisor.

Jack Hiltbrand's registered Holstein herd of 10 milking cows topped the herd production. Grandall reported a total of 14 herds with 994 cows were tested and 121 of the cows were dry. Total pounds of milk produced was $29,485 and total pounds of butterfat was 19,948. Average pounds of milk produced per cow, including dry cows, was 993 and average pounds of butterfat produced per cow, including dry cows, was 34.

Highest cows in the association include Holly, a grade Holstein owned by Lester Roy, producing 87 pounds of butterfat from 1,770 pounds of milk with a 4.9 test; Star, a grade Holstein owned by Roy, also produced 85 pounds of butterfat from 1,940 pounds of milk at a 4.4 test; No. L-4, owned by Hiltbrand Dairy farm produced 85 pounds of butterfat from 1,925 pounds of milk at a 4.4 test.

A grade Holstein, No. 150, owned by Hiltbrand, produced 85 pounds of butterfat from 1,854 pounds of milk with a 4.6 test.

Lemmon told a group of interested farmers and livestock men during the class session held in the American Legion hall, that dehydrated alfalfa has an excellent future in Idaho beef production planning.

Lemmon told the group the "Dehy" pellets are by no means limited to cattle. They have been used for hogs and poultry and, in one case, medical research has been done using a dehydrated alfalfa pellet to cure and control ulcers in human beings.

Proper use of the pellets can aid in control of water belly, scours and other livestock diseases.

Lemmon was followed at the speakers' stand by Delbert Clamplitt, Kimberly area farmer, who last winter had sugar beet tops pelleted at the alfalfa mill.

While bad weather curbed many of the trails, tests in other areas indicate that sugar beet tops could become a good supplemental feeding crop when fed with silage. Some testing is being done on pelleting the entire sugar beet, said Clamplitt. Moderator for the meeting was John Feldhusen, Kimberly. Morris Hemstrom, extension livestock specialist, was one of the main speakers during the afternoon session.

Testing Program Begun at University on Bean Blight

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Feb. 26 — A laboratory and field testing program to detect halo blight infection in bean seed has been set up by the University of Idaho's college of agriculture in cooperation with Idaho's bean seed industry, the state commissioner of agriculture and the Idaho Crop Improvement association. Goal of the program is to reduce — and eliminate if possible — the amount of diseased bean seed planted in the state, according to Dr. A. M. Finley, head of the department of plant science. Laboratory testing will begin immediately, Dr. Finley said. Small samples of seed introduced into Idaho from known halo blight-infested areas will be tested in the university plant pathology laboratory. If the seed appears to be free of infection, larger samples will be grown and tested at Yuma, Ariz., in late February and March. "If we find evidence of halo blight in either laboratory or field tests, we will advise strongly that the seed not be planted in Idaho," Dr. Finley said. This kind of attack against halo blight is necessary because there is no known chemical means of controlling the disease, he pointed out. Four or five diseased plants per acre can destroy a field of beans. Since the disease spreads quickly, one infected field can endanger a bean-growing area. In Idaho's case, halo blight infection threatens the total bean seed industry. "Idaho became the nation's No. 1 source of bean seed because it was free of halo blight and other bacterial seed diseases," Dr. Finley said. "Bean varieties developed in the commercial areas could be grown for increase here without concern over seed diseases. Our climate effectively choked out infection." Not so today, he added. Halo blight infection was reported throughout the southern Idaho bean producing areas last year. Dr. Harry S. Fenwick, plant pathologist with the Idaho Agricultural Extension Service, will be in charge of the university testing program.

Agriculture Department Estimates World Farm Output Increased in '64

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — The agriculture department estimates that world farm output increased one per cent last year over 1963.

The gain is smaller than in each of the two previous years and also less than the growth in world population and economic activity, the department said in a report by the Economic Research Service. Because of the small increase, farm output per person in 1964 was down one per cent. However, production of food has risen faster than other farm commodities, so food output per person was about the same as in 1963.

ERS said harvests in 1964 set world records for wheat, barley, sugar beets, sugar cane, soybeans, peanuts, cocoa beans, cotton, tobacco, and tea. The rice harvest, when finally tabulated, probably will prove to be a record. Smaller outputs than a year earlier were the harvest of coffee, corn, oats, potatoes, beans, olive oil, flaxseed, and rapeseed.

World output of major farm commodities varied widely from 1963. Wheat production, up 10 per cent, measured up to more than nine billion bushels. Sugar output was up 11 per cent. Coffee production was down 24 per cent. Other declines were feed grains, three per cent; potatoes, five per cent and meat, two per cent.

Peanuts were up seven per cent and soybeans, two per cent. Copra was down two per cent. Olive oil production was off about 25 per cent from 1963's record plus one. The decline in feed grains traced largely to the drought-reduced corn crop in the United States and a lesser reduction in the world production of oats.

There was a record crop of cotton—31.7 million bales. Jute was up two per cent.

Tea and cocoa output went up moderately. The coffee output was down because of frost and the drought in Brazil, the world's biggest coffee producer.

ERS said world output of livestock in 1964 probably was no greater than in 1963. Milk production in mainland China was up, but not enough to offset declines elsewhere.

Production of wool and tallow was up, but lard was down slightly. Meat and lard output is expected to gain sharply in the first half of 1965.

ERS said the most striking farm production gains in 1964 were made in the Soviet Union and mainland China. It said Russia more than recovered from the sharp drop in production during the 1963 season.

The recovery was due in large part to a good grain harvest more than compensating for a declining livestock situation. ERS tentatively estimated net agricultural production in the Soviet Union during 1964 at nine per cent above 1963.

Estimated farm output in Red China in 1964 was the highest since the "Great Leap Forward" of 1958. ERS indicated, however, that the output probably was below production prior to the onset of the "Great Leap" period.

ERS hastened to point out that despite an improvement in farm output in Red China, the Chinese

Dairy Leader Eyes Change

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — A dairy industry leader says there are signs that the Johnson administration may be willing to back a law designed to make it easier for farm co-ops to expand.

The proposed new law would clarify the rights of co-ops to merge or to buy up other businesses without running into objections based on the anti-trust law.

tion advanced, but the population grew at a faster pace. Output per person dropped and food shortages developed in India, Africa, Western Europe, Australia and New Zealand had higher farm production than in the previous year.

ERS said world agricultural trade during 1964 was at least as large as in 1963. Increased exports of food grains, fats and oils, and tobacco offset declines in wheat, sugar and cotton.

ERS indicated value of world agricultural trade for 1963 was in the neighborhood of 30 billion dollars. U.S. farm exports in fiscal 1964 were valued at a record 6.1 billion dollars.

Price of Idaho Hay Climbs Because of Continued Cold

BOISE, Feb. 26 — The price of hay went up in Idaho during January. More hay was fed because of severe weather in November and December, and the large number of cattle wintering on farms and ranches.

Idaho supplies were down 12 per cent on Jan. 1 compared with a year earlier, according to Wayne Robinson, marketing information specialist of the University of Idaho extension service, who commented on the situation in the February issue of Economic Facts for Idaho Agriculture, a monthly summary.

Hay supplies in Washington were up eight per cent, reaching the largest tonnage for the season in seven years. Oregon had one per cent more than a year ago. On the other hand, Montana was down 13 per cent. Near by all other Western states had less than last year. For the nation as a whole, stocks were down five per cent.

Potato prices increased, the summary said. Demand picked up in January after a lull during the latter part of December. Prices reached new highs as buyers replenished supplies.

Consumption remains good. Cecil Kent, potato marketing specialist, said, even at the high prices. The 1964 crop is smaller than average. Nationally, it is 11 per cent below 1963 and the smallest since 1959.

The total Idaho crop is estimated at 41,640,000 hundredweight—22 per cent less than it was in 1963 and 11 per cent below average. More acres were harvested—246,000 in 1964 compared with 241,000 acres the year before—but yield declined to an average of 169 hundredweight compared with 222 in 1963.

Reports from Idaho potato storage areas indicated late in January that between three and eight per cent of total stocks on hand were owned by growers, depending on the district.

Glenns Ferry Grange Store Okays Merger

KING, HILL, Feb. 26 — Stockholders of the Glenns Ferry Grange Supply voted unanimously in favor of a merger with the Cooperative Oil association at the annual meeting at the King Hill Grange hall Tuesday afternoon, reports Ralph Thompson, chairman.

Ellis Merritt, Caldwell, general manager of the Cooperative Oil association, explained details of the merger and answered questions. Glenn Gray, chairman of the oil association board of directors, and Perry Kasul, vice chairman, also spoke.

Ernie Jerome, Kuna, state Grange master, stressed that cooperatives are needed to help farmers meet today's challenge of marketing. He said mergers such as this are frequent in many states and he congratulated the Grange Supply directors for approving the plan.

Merritt announced the same employees will be retained at the Glenns Ferry store and one director from this area will be appointed to the Cooperative Oil association board at Caldwell.

Aide Slaps Critics of Farm Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman has taken an indirect slap at critics who charge that government farm programs are enriching a large number of big farmers.

"There just aren't very many rich farmers," Freeman said. "The most affluent farms in this nation are showplaces supported by their owners from their incomes in professions, business, or industry."

"If they want to spend their money on farming as a hobby, that's fine. But it is certainly not representative of farming as an occupation."

Freeman's comments came in a meeting with members of the National Farmers Union from Illinois, North Dakota and South Dakota.

The agriculture secretary told the visiting Farmers Union members that most American farmers are not earning adequate incomes. He said it will be necessary to help them by continuing programs of price support and supply management.

Freeman warned the Farmers Union group that the kind of program he favors will have tough sledding in congress as long as consumers regard farm supports as a charge against their pocketbooks.

The secretary said that the farm program has produced benefits for consumers in the form of ample food supplies at fair prices.

DEVILS, WOLVES GRAB FIRST-ROUND WINS

Second-Quarter Surges Fatal to Bulldogs, Hansen

MURTAUGH, Feb. 26—Murtaugh's Red Devils shattered Rockland 58-39 and Castleford rolled over ice cold Hansen 51-10 in the opening session of the sixth district class A round robin tournament. Murtaugh broke a close game wide open in the second quarter by reeling off 13 straight points while Castleford caught Hansen dry in the first three minutes of the same period to clinch that victory. Action continued Friday night with Murtaugh taking on Raft River at 7:30 p.m. and Rockland testing Castleford in the nightcap. Hansen draws the bye.

Twin Double Winner Nets $108,242.40

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—A 70-year-old retired antique shop owner who has been playing the horse for decades won $108,242.40 Thursday on the twin double at Hialeah.

But he wouldn't say whether the check put him ahead of the game or not.

The winner asked that his name not be used because he said he was afraid of robbers. He said he handicaps and bets the horses scientifically.

"I have a record of every bet, every winner, every loser," he said. "Sometimes it's a very expensive hobby, and sometimes, like now, it's a very pleasurable one."

He said he also keeps his own charts on jockeys and horses, but he wouldn't go into the system any further.

One prime ingredient of it is obviously a lot of cash.

He said he had 120 good tickets going into the second half of the twin.

That means he bet at least $240, even if he was sure of the winners in the first two races.

He could have bet much more, particularly since the winner of the fourth race was a 13-1 shot and the winner of the fifth race was 6-1.

"I had a sure thing after the first two races," he said. "I had 120 tickets and bet every horse in the last two races."

City Course Opens Saturday

Official opening of the Twin Falls municipal golf course is slated for Saturday morning—weather permitting, announces head professional Clyde Thomson.

"The last few days of good weather have really brought out the golfers," Thomson said. "If the weather holds we should have a real fine opening week-end."

City parks and recreation superintendent Howard Johnson said the course appeared in as good condition as it has in several years. Although March 1 is the usual deadline Johnson chuckled and said, "We've been getting a lot of play out there and they've been going on the permanent greens despite the fact they aren't open."

Thomson said all the facilities of the course will be available Saturday.

Gun Bow Is Favorite at Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 26 (AP)—Gun Bow, the solid favorite, and fiery Manuel Ycaza, the hottest stakes rider of the meeting, pose a formidable threat in Saturday's 28th running of the $145,000-guaranteed Santa Anita handicap.

The second choice, and possibly just as tough to handle, is the team of Candy Spots and his master of the saddle, Bill Shoemaker.

They will be the ones to watch as the field of eight horses takes off in the 1 1/4 mile highlight race of the waning season at Santa Anita.

Not to be discounted, however, are such challengers as the Cal-borne Farm's Dubl, the El Peco Ranch's Hill Rise, Canada-bred George Royal or an Argentine runner, Mangayte.

Rounding out the field will be a French horse, Or Et Argent, and Doc Jacoy, runner-up to Mr. Consistency in the 1964 Santa Anita handicap.

The race could well be "carbon copy" of the San Antonio handicap two weeks ago when Gun Bow, from the Gedyne Farms, and Rex Ellsworth's Candy Spots ran against each other for the first time.

If so, it will be a ding-dong battle.

Belinsky Claims He'll Help Phils

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Bo Belinsky arrived at the Philadelphia Phillies training camp Thursday equipped with an Hawaiian suntan and a declaration that if he can't make the Phils' pitching staff "I'll pack it in."

At 185 pounds, Belinsky said he would like to put on a few pounds. "That's my trouble," he said. "I don't have any endurance. But I think I can win a lot of ball games this summer."

Belinsky came to the Phils in a trade that sent first baseman Costen Shockley and pitcher Rudy May to the Los Angeles Angels.

AAU Sets Probe Of Indoor Meet

VANCOUVER, B.C. Feb. 26 (AP)—An investigation into last Saturday's Perry Williams indoor track meet here has been postponed by the British Columbia branch of the Amateur Athletic Union.

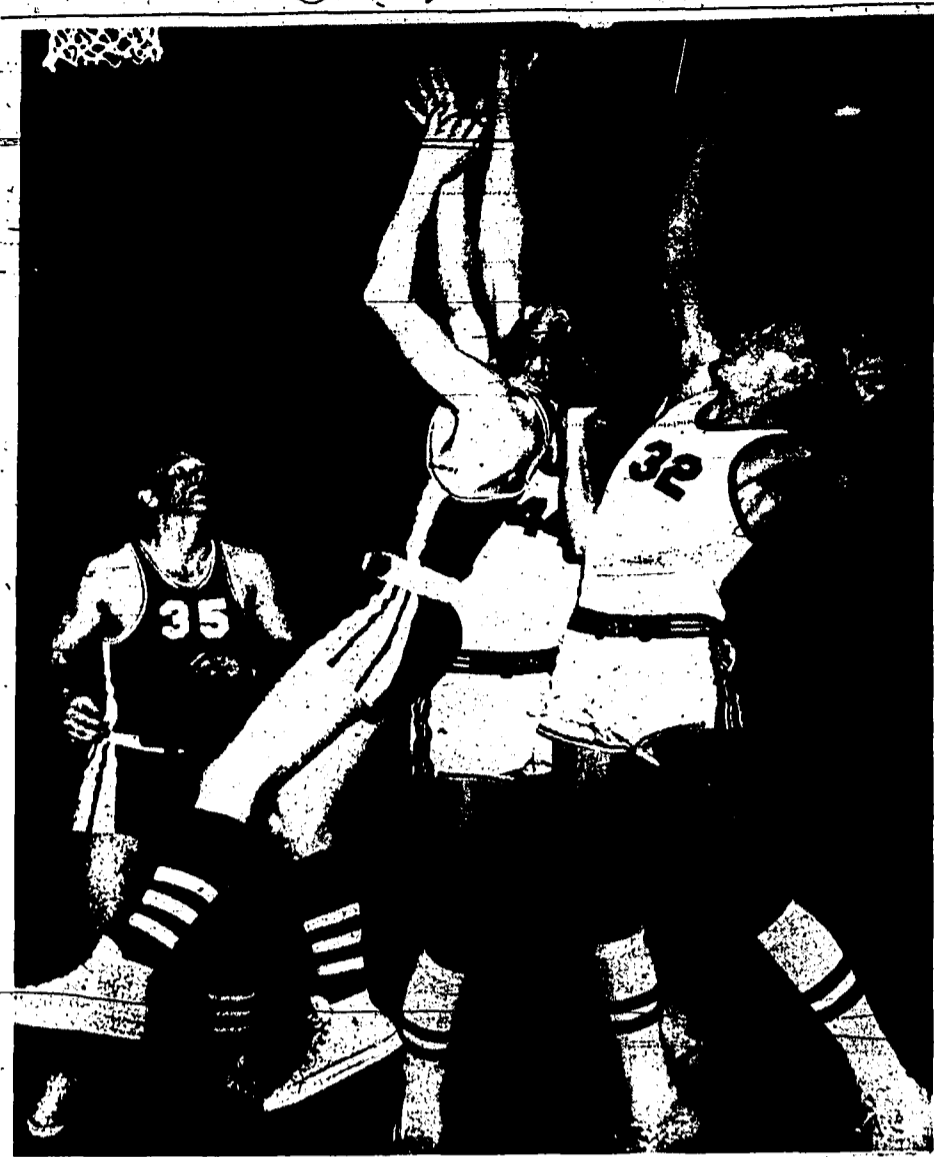

Bruce Hay, president of the branch, said the investigation would be held "by next Tuesday, at the latest." It was to have opened Thursday night.

Hay said an informant whom he refused to identify told him many Canadian and American athletes at the meet did not have AAU certificates.

"In receiving reports," Dr. Davis said, "I inadvertently did not notice that Reuther's hours for both semesters did not meet the minimum requirement for Southwest conference eligibility."

Last Wednesday Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the Southwest Conference, called me and said the discrepancy in Reuther's record had been discovered during a routine check and asked that we investigate."

Dr. Davis said that Tech made a thorough investigation and that after the team's delayed return from a Tuesday night game in Waco, Tex., he pursued the matter further in Lubbock and ascertained that Reuther in fact did not have the necessary hours.

Texas Tech Gives up Title as Player Is Found Ineligible

LUBBOCK, Tex., Feb. 26 (AP)—Texas Tech, leading the Southwest conference basketball race, withdrew from championship consideration Thursday because it had found one of its top players—Norman Reuther—scholastically ineligible. Tech also will not participate in post-season playoffs for what Howard Grubbs conference executive secretary, termed an honest mistake. None of Tech's games will be forfeited and it will play out the schedule. The team from the remainder of the conference that finishes with the highest percentage will be champion and play in the NCAA.

Southern Methodist is in second place, a game back of Tech, with an 8-3 record. Baylor and Texas are next with 7-4 records, while Texas A-M and M-Js next with 6-5. Each team has three games left to play.

Dr. J. William Davis, chairman of the faculty athletic committee, told a called news conference at 6 p.m. that it had been belatedly discovered that Norman Reuther, Tech's star forward, had not passed the required number of accumulative hours over the past two semesters.

Dr. Davis told newsmen in a prepared statement that Reuther, one of Tech's top scorers and rebounders, had passed only nine hours during the fall semester and 10 last spring for an accumulative total of 19 hours, one shy of the required number.

Dr. Davis said that the latest in discovering the incident was occasioned by the fact that mid-term grade reports normally are not posted until mid-February, several days after first semester exams are over.

He said, "In an effort to ascertain the eligibility of all the basketball team members, I asked for a preliminary report from the registrar's office shortly after mid-term."

FAVORED PILOTS, VALLEY COP MEET WINS

Declo Tops Hot Kimberly 81-75, Indians Advance

Shoshone used speed and accuracy Thursday night to defeat the Wendell Trojans 54-44 and advanced to the winners bracket along with the favored Pilots, who knocked off the Wood River Wolverines 73-41 in the fourth district A-3 tournament at Shoshone. In the quarter segment of the meet...

Venturi Is Ready to Rejoin Tour

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Feb. 26 (AP)—Golfers Ken Venturi, sidelined for weeks by a circulatory ailment, will hit the tournament trail again next week with his physician's blessing. The U.S. open champion disclosed his plans Thursday. "My game naturally is pretty rusty," he said, "but I am itching to play."

Venturi said he'll return to his home at Hillsborough, south of San Francisco, on Saturday and will head for Florida on Tuesday. He'll rejoin the PGA tour in Pensacola open the following week-end.

Venturi's ailment has been particularly bothersome in his hands. It began developing during the Los Angeles open the first week of January. At first the trouble was in both hands, he said, "but now it is only in the right hand—the middle and little finger. There is a big improvement."

Venturi has been recuperating in the desert sun under the watchful care of Dr. Robert M. Woods, team physician for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Dr. Woods, who once treated pitching star Sandy Koufax for a similar ailment, said it may take some time for Venturi to get his rhythm back, adding: "Clinically, I am very impressed with his progress. The circulation is not back 100 percent but I feel confident that it will be. I don't see any reason why he can't resume play at Pensacola next week."

Shoshone made the March 30 points at the end of the third and had smooth sailing the rest of the way. Kimberly hardly looked like the team that lost 18 straight during the season as the Bulldogs jumped in front early and still had six points to play with going into the final quarter.

Declo turned to a full court press and the scoring began picking up early in the final period. The Hornets finally caught up at 71-71 and then took command over the tiring, inspired Bulldogs.

Kimberly ended the night hitting 22 of 67 field goal attempts while Declo was 31 for 96. But the difference came at the end where Declo outscored Kimberly 19-11. Largely responsible for that was the 12-for-13 effort by Hornet Mike Matthews.

In the first game Oakley outlasted the Valley Vikings and took a precarious 20-17 halftime edge. But in the third quarter Valley found the key to Oakley's nose defense and began chipping away with close-in shots.

The favored Vikings took the lead midway through the quarter and at one stage in the fourth quarter mounted a 13-point lead. But the stubborn Hornets refused to quit and in the last three minutes slowly closed the gap. The clock stopped them before they could overcome the Big Valley bulge.

SHOSHONE 54, WENDELL 44. Shoshone: 1st Qtr. 12-10, 2nd Qtr. 12-10, 3rd Qtr. 12-10, 4th Qtr. 18-14. Total 54. Wendell: 1st Qtr. 10-12, 2nd Qtr. 10-12, 3rd Qtr. 10-12, 4th Qtr. 12-10. Total 44.

"WHAT HAVE I DONE?" appears to be the reaction of Shoshone's Fred Trenkle when in reality he was coming back to the floor after a field goal attempt Thursday night in the A-3 tournament. Trying for the check is Wendell's John Smith (55) while Jim King (54) comes in for a possible rebound. Shoshone won 54-44. (Times-News photo)

Pole Is Outstanding Athlete Of Meet; Top Names Missing

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—The meet was in New York, but the star was in Toronto. Or maybe San Francisco. Or perhaps at home in bed. The outstanding athlete award in Thursday's Knights of Columbus indoor track meet went to Witold Baran of Poland. He ran a 4:05.7 mile and wasn't even around at the finish to pick up the plaque — a tip-off to the whole affair.

Bill Crothers, most exciting of the runners on the indoor circuit this season, was snowed out by a blizzard in Toronto along with the rest of the Canadian complement. The Russian delegation, headed by high jumper Valery Brumel and broad jumper Igor Ter-Ovanesyan, was in San Francisco for the Golden Gate Invitational, next stop on another three-day, multiple city swing on the indoor circuit.

Shot putter Gary Gubner was at home nursing a sore elbow. And Fordham's Sam Perry, who matched the indoor record of 59 for the .60 recently, also was among the missing. He had a bum leg. That left Tommy Farrell the only really big name for the games, and he didn't want to run. "I didn't feel like running," said the St. John's student who set an indoor 1:49.8 record for the half-mile two weeks ago. "I'm tired. I didn't expect to win. I just ran to help out, as a favor to assistant meet director Artie O'Connor."

Farrell ran the 1000, running last most of the way, then pulling far to the outside on the last lap to win going away in a modest 2:12 flat. Baran's time in the mile was equally unimpressive, but he gave the Madison Square Garden crowd of 10,145 a few moments of high hopes for a sub-four-minute mile. He clipped off the half mile in 2:01.6 and three-quarters in 3:01.9. The crowd urged him on. He responded with a dead tired 1:03.8 last quarter.

One of the better performances was a 7-foot high jump by Edward Czernick of Poland. Eamon O'Reilly of Georgetown won the two-mile in 8:56.8.

Lobos Accept NIT Invitation; Davidson Wins 23rd Straight

By The Associated Press The New Mexico Lobos got their wish. They are coming back to the National Invitation college basketball tournament in New York where a year ago they took an 86-54 drubbing from Bradley in the final.

"This is what we've been going for all season," said coach Bob King after the Lobos accepted an NIT bid Thursday night. New Mexico's acceptance shared the headlines with the 23rd straight victory of the nationally sixth-ranked Davidson Wildcats.

The Wildcats whipped Davidson Military 86-73 in the first round of the Southern conference championship tourney at Charlotte and advanced to the semifinals with West Virginia, Virginia Tech and William and Mary.

Tulsa defeated North Texas 87-77. Xavier of Ohio downed Memphis State 95-74. Massachusetts edged Boston U. 87-83 and Utah State crushed Montana State 98-71 in other games.

Fred Hetzel's 31 points paced Davidson over the team that upset the Wildcats in last year's Southern conference tournament. The Wildcats play West Virginia tonight in one semifinal with William and Mary meeting Virginia Tech in the other semi.

William and Mary advance by downing The Citadel 88-60 and Virginia Tech romped over Richmond 103-63.

Rick Park tossed in 36 points to lead Tulsa to a home court triumph over North Texas while Clarence Hills 28 points paced Massachusetts over Boston U. at Amherst, Mass. Lefty Walker's 37 points led Utah State over Montana State at Logan, Utah.

New Mexico was the sixth team named to the NIT. The Lobos, 10th-ranked in The Associated Press poll with a 19-3 record, accepted after St. John's, 16-6, and Texas Western, 17-8, were named earlier Thursday.

Villanova, Boston college and Detroit had accepted Wednesday. The NCAA tournament, which determines the national champion, did not announce the identity of the last team to fill its 23-team field but Texas Tech, the Southwest conference leader, disclosed it would not compete.

Dr. J. William Davis, chairman of the faculty athletic committee at Texas Tech, said that it had been discovered that Norman Reuther, star of the team, was scholastically ineligible.

Southern Methodist, the current runner-up, now is expected to represent the SWC in the NCAA tourney which starts March 8. The NIT opens March 11.

He was accused of providing 100 unbranded tablets last Monday to Robert Culbreth, a penitentiary inmate. A warrant against him was sworn out by Ellis C. MacDougall, director of the state department of corrections.

No delusions of grandeur. We just make Kentucky bourbon at its best. And what more could you really want?

Featured Attraction in the Gala Room

Johnny Aladdin and Taki Chan..

STARS OF "FAR EAST FROLICS"

Everyone's raving about Johnny Aladdin . . . and his Japanese Hypno-Judo act called Sai Min Jutso. Recently featured in such famous night clubs as Mikado in Tokyo, Paramount in Hong Kong, the Starlite in Bangkok, the Crescendo in Hollywood . . . Star of a recent Steve Allen Show, Command Performances before the Emperor of Japan, the King and Queen of Thailand.

There is no explanation as to how Johnny manages to stick the audience participant's hands to his hand, but he does. They cannot pull away. Then he sticks their hands to the floor and he walks away from them. One person usually ends up stuck to the wall! Aladdin clasps his hands together and their feet fly out and they find themselves sitting stuck fast to the floor!
